

I do not support use of voice communication on cellular phones in-flight. If people wish to use cell phones as data modems in-flight, that would be acceptable, as long as the modem can be muted.